81 Rescued After Icy Night Aloft in Alpine Cable Cars

CHAMONIX, France (AP). — Rescuers yesterday completed the rescue of 81 sightseers who spent hours of terror in tiny cable cars stranded high above an alpine cableway and in which six persons were killed.

"We've had an awful time and we're glad it's over," was the comment of a British tourist named by a night of little leg room and freezing cold on the slopes of Mont Blanc. They had been wearing only light summer clothes. Helicopters ferried the last survivors back to the warmth of their Chaumont hotels. Some of them had spent nearly 20 hours suspended hundreds of feet in the air while workers slowly wound in the broken traction cable.

The cable was snapped at 1.10 p.m. on Tuesday by a French Air Force jet combat plane flying low through the valley between Mont Blanc and Alpe du Midi.

A German family of four and an Italian and his son were killed when the cable snapped. The cable was snapped by a French Air Force jet combat plane flying low through the valley between Mont Blanc and Alpe du Midi.

Cooperate in Rescue. More than 100 Alpine guides, French Army mountain troops, police, and cableway workers cooperated in the rescue operation.

The lift runs along a three-inch thick steel track, struggling for more than five kilometers from the Alpe du Midi to the French-Italian border.

About 30 four-seat cabins run simultaneously in each direction, pulled by a one-inch thick steel cable which runs in one place through the cabins going up and down. The weight of the descending cabins is used to pull mounting cabins up the slope.

A little above the half-way point, the carrying cable rests on a sharp-pointed rock called Gros Rognon. The plane, flying only a few inches below the carrying cable, snapped the upward moving traction cable at a point about 270 metres above the Gros Rognon.

Plunged Backward. The three cabins moving up towards the Alpe du Midi between the Gros Rognon and the breaking point were flung backward, and crashed onto the cable below.

A group of three cabins immediately astride the break were also derailed but remained suspended on the track. They were the last of a group of three which trailed on the glacier. They and the other cars remained immobilized. A winch was hurried into place and through the night the cabins were drawn slowly to the line's terminals or to points from which the occupants could be lowered by ropes to the glacier.

The jet fighter involved in the disaster has been impounded by order of a local magistrate. The pilot, named as a Captain Ziegler, is expected to be questioned by Air Force security officers today. Until then he has been ordered not to make any statement.

Mountain rescue teams paid tribute to the heroism of the trainee guide Christian Mollier, or Chamonix, who slid down a slack end of the broken cable to the snowfield. His aim was to warn guides of deadly danger if immediate attempts were made to pull in the cabin.

Two cabins in a group of three were "hanging by hair," he said. The slightest jolt could have sent the occupants crashing to their death. At the night the cableway engineers paid out the cable from which the trail aluminium cabins dangled with their loads of sightseers close to the Col du Goats glacier. The passengers clambered down by rope. (AP, Reuter)

JFK Denied Right To Borrow for Aid

WASHINGTON (AP). — A joint meeting of both Houses of Congress agreed on Tuesday night on a compromise five-year, $7,500 million program of economic development loans abroad, stripped of the authority to borrow from the Treasury which President Kennedy had requested.

The action represented a defeat for the President and apparently sank beyond salvage his proposal that he be granted a latitude as President to grant a President in the operation of such a loan program.

Mr. Kennedy had asked for $4,000 million to be financed through Treasury borrowing which would eliminate the Congressional check on expenditure.

Congressmen were urged yesterday to give final approval to a foreign aid bill providing $4,250 million in spending and lending for this year. On development loans, which Mr. Kennedy regards as the heart of his foreign aid program, the compromise calls for $1,500 million in authorizations for economic development loans abroad this fiscal year, and $1,500 million annually for the next four years.

The bill authorizes the President to make agreements with foreign governments to carry out its obligations under its mandate from the United Nations, and to prevent the national and political development of the indigenous population, and the evolution of the territory which was the goal of the mandate.

He charged that South Africa was only looking after the interests of its European population, and the evolution of the territory which was the goal of the mandate.

Mr. Kennedy was not at all unhappy over the compromise since it would commit Congress to support funds for the development of the territory which was the goal of the mandate.

The White House said Mr. Kennedy was not at all unhappy over the compromise since it would commit Congress to support funds for the development of the territory which was the goal of the mandate.

Among the participants in the ceremony were the Acting Mayor of Jerusalem, Mr. Moshe Givon, and Mr. Abraham Harshel, M.K.

THE ACRE Nautical College has enrolled 108 new students this year, as against 80 last year. The full course takes four years.

Other sources linked the incident with the whole question of alleged discrimination against African diplomats, and said the question might be aired during the forthcoming General Assembly meeting if the Soviet Union requests its suspension from U.N. headquarters be moved.

Noted Soviet Hebrew Philologist, Shapiro PARIS (INA). — The noted Soviet Hebrew philologist, F.I. Shapiro, died last week at the age of 70.

Professor Shapiro taught Hebrew philology at Moscow University and was putting the finishing touches to his forthcoming Russian-Hebrew dictionary when he died.

He was the last of a group of three which trailed on the glacier. They and the other cars remained immobilized. A winch was hurried into place and through the night the cabins were drawn slowly to the line's terminals or to points from which the occupants could be lowered by ropes to the glacier.

Tara Singh Said Near Danger Point

NEW DELHI (Reuter). — Tara Singh, 70-year-old Sikh leader, said yesterday that he was "near the danger point" for a Punjab-speaking State, was reported from Amritsar, yesterday. He was unable to stand up and bearing the danger point.

Speculation that police may enter the Golden Temple and arrest him if his condition deteriorates followed a statement in parliament that such an action would not be illegal.

Mr. Lal Bahadur Shastri, Home Minister, told the Lower House there was no law to prohibit police from entering places of worship, and if a man for whom there was a warrant took refuge in a temple or sacred shrine the police expected full co-operation from the priest in effecting his arrest.

Two Hindu leaders announced yesterday that they would today abandon their "counter-fest" in opposition to Tara Singh, as Prime Minister Nehru had now categorically rejected the Sikh demand. But nobody expects that Tara Singh will break his fast.

MINISTER TO SOFIA (Reuter). — Israel's new Minister to Bulgaria, Mr. Zvi Avnon, on Tuesday handed his credentials to Mr. G. Kulevsk, Deputy Chairman of the People's Assembly Presidium, the Bulgarian news agency reported.

TEL AVIV. — Magen David Adom will launch its annual lottery with prizes to the value of IL750,000, on September 1.

The lotteries are one of the principal sources of Magen David's budget, which this year totals IL3,420,000. The first lottery held in 1958, brought in IL200,000, while last year's raised IL204,000.

SEPHARDI RABBIS:

Youth Aliya Shouldn't Send Our Children to 'Yiddish' Schools

A demand that Sephardi or Oriental children brought here under Youth Aliya auspices not be assigned to institutions where the language of instruction or of daily discourse is Yiddish, was made yesterday to Mr. Moshe Kol, M.K., the Head of Youth Aliya, by Rabbi Yitzhak Abuhazira, of Ramla, and Rabbi Moshe Levi, of Bat-Yam, on behalf of the 150-member Union of Sephardi Rabbis.

At a meeting with Mr. Kol in Jerusalem yesterday, Rabbi Abuhazira and Rabbi Levi also declared that the Sephardi rabbis would demand representation on the Youth Aliya Classification Committee if any other body not now represented — except the Chief Rabbinate — was granted representation.

The two rabbis accepted an invitation by Mr. Kol to accompany him to a tour of Youth Aliya institutions as soon as he was free of "pressing matters." Mr. Kol told The Jerusalem Post last night.

Mr. Kol said he has also met with Rabbi Ze'ev Segal, Chairman of the Israel Commission of the Rabbinical Council of America, who was sent to look into the furor over the education of Youth Aliya wards. Asked how Rabbi Segal viewed the matter, Mr. Kol reported that Rabbi Segal had said he now saw it all "in a different light." (Rabbi Segal could not be reached for comment.)

Mr. Kol added that the matter would be discussed at the meeting of the Jewish

Mr. Wineberg served in various posts in the force for 24 years. (Itim).

U.S. Takes Early Maccabiah Lead But Short of What Expected

BY PAUL MOSEN, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — A powerful finishing kick gave a hair's breadth victory to Stan Levinson of Toronto in the 100 metres dash at the opening of the track and field events of the Sixth Maccabiah games yesterday.

The men's 100 m. final brought the crowd of 4,000 to its feet at the Maccabiah Stadium here. Three Americans, two Israelis and one Canadian lined up. The Americans — Jonas Spiegel, Steve Robbins and Stan Frier — got off to the best start with Levinson fifth. But in a magnificent finish, he broke the tape at 10.6 seconds.

Spiegel was second in the same time, Frier third, Robbins fourth and Harry Kanah fifth. All clocked 10.7 seconds.

Levinson, who gave Canada's first gold medal, is a 22-year-old salesman. He has already represented his country in the Olympic Games in 1956. His best time for the distance is 10.3, but he was 10.6 yesterday.

"Very good indeed on this slow track,"

Levinson said.

The U.S.A. captured three gold medals in yesterday's track and field events. Israel took two and Australia one.

The Americans failed to make the sweep many had forecast.

The first gold medal of the Sixth Maccabiah went to Holland's Selma Heystak, who won the 60 metres hurdles in 1.15 seconds, beating the previous best of 1.24 sec.

Second was Anna-Maria Norsa of Italy, in 1.20 sec. and third, the Aussie girl Madeleine Bergman in 1.25 sec.

Madeleine, a 20-year-old Melbourne school teacher, was on her way to beat the 22-year-old Welsh school teacher, Jackie Barnett, in the 60 m. Third was the favourite, Judy Shapiro, of the U.S.A. Miss Bergman's time of 2.15 minutes set a new Maccabiah record.

Miss Shapiro set a hot pace at the start, followed by Madeleine Bergman. However, at 800 metres Madeleine took the lead, to hold off a determined finishing challenge by the Cardiff girl, who is Welsh champion in the distance.

John Thomas, the champion American high jumper — who has a jump of 2.23 m. to his credit — yesterday was "coming up" at 1.90 m. In an exhibition, he quickly passed the two metres mark, moving up to 2.10. He failed thrice to cross the bar at 2.10.

His stylish jumping was greatly appreciated by the crowd.

The winner of the high jump was a "dark horse," Saul Levy, of France. He reached 1.95 metres to beat Gene Zubrinsky, (U.S.A.), who jumped the same height but with more faults. Third was Mike Herman, with 1.90 m., and fourth the Israeli, Moshe Engel with 1.85 m.

Tasks of the Communist Party

Following is the twenty-second instalment of the text of the draft third programme of the Soviet Communist Party, as translated into English by Tass:

The party sets the following tasks:

(1) In the field of development of Communist consciousness.

THE SHAPING OF A SCIENTIFIC WORLD OUTLOOK.

Under socialism and at a time when a Communist society is being built, when spontaneous economic development has given way to the conscious organization of production and social life as a whole, and when theory is daily translated into practice, the shaping of a scientific world outlook in all working people is of prime importance.

The ideological basis of this world outlook is shaped as Marxism-Leninism, an integral and harmonious system of philosophical, economic and socio-political views.

The party will encourage all forms of conscious civil self-discipline leading to the assertion and promotion of the basic rules of the Communist way of life.

The Communists reject the class morality of the exploiters, in contrast to the moral of the old world, which is the noblest and most just morality, for it expresses the interests and ideals of the whole of working mankind.

Communism makes the elementary standards of morality and justice, which were distorted or shamelessly flouted under the power of the exploiters, into the inviolable rules for relations both between individuals and between peoples.

Communist morality encompasses the fundamental norms of human morality, rules for relations both between individuals and between peoples.

The party regards one of its most important duties as to further elaborate Marxist-Leninist theory by studying and generalizing new phenomena in the life of Soviet society and the experience of the world revolutionary working-class and liberation movements, and creatively to combine the theory and the practice of Communist construction.

LABOUR EDUCATION.

The party sets the development of a Communist attitude to labour in all members of society as its chief educational task. Labour for the benefit of society is the sacred duty of all. Any labour for society, whether physical or mental, is honorable and commands respect.

Exemplary labour and outstanding management in the social economy should serve to educate all working people.

Everything required for life and human progress is created by labour. Hence everyone must take part in creating the means which are indispensable for his life and the welfare of the welfare of society. Anyone who received any benefits from society without doing his share of work would be a parasite living at the expense of others.

It is impossible for a man in communist society not to work, for neither his social consciousness nor public opinion would permit it. Work according to one's ability will become a habit, a primary necessity of life, for every member of society.

THE AFFIRMATION OF COMMUNIST MORALITY.

In the course of transition to communism, the moral principles of society become increasingly important, the sphere of action of the moral factor expands and the importance of the administrative control of human relations diminishes accordingly.

The party will encourage all forms of conscious civil self-discipline leading to the assertion and promotion of the basic rules of the Communist way of life.

THE AFFIRMATION OF COMMUNIST MORALITY.

guilelessness in social and private life;

Mutual respect in the family, and concern for the upbringing of children;

An uncompromising attitude to injustice, parasitism, dishonesty and careerism;

Friendship and brotherhood among all peoples of the USSR, intolerance of national and racial hatred;

An uncompromising attitude to the enemies of communism, peace and the freedom of nations;

Fraternity with the working people of all peoples, and with all peoples.

D. THE PROMOTION OF PROLETARIAN INTERNATIONALISM AND SOCIALIST PATRIOTISM.

The party will untiringly educate Soviet people in the spirit of proletarian internationalism and will vigorously promote the international solidarity of the working people, in fostering the Soviet people's love of their country, the party maintains that with the emergence of the world Socialist system the patriotism of the members of Socialist society is expressed in devotion and loyalty to their own country and to the entire community of Socialist countries.

Socialist patriotism and Socialist internationalism necessarily imply proletarian solidarity with the working class and all working people of all countries. The party will continue perseveringly to combat the reactionary ideology of bourgeois nationalism, racism and cosmopolitanism.

E. ALL-ROUND AND HARMONIOUS DEVELOPMENT OF THE INDIVIDUAL.

In the period of transition to communism, there are greater opportunities of educating a new man, who will harmonize his spiritual, physical, moral, and intellectual development, and a perfect physique.

All-round development of the individual has been made possible by historic social gains: freedom from exploitation, unemployment and poverty, from discrimination on account of sex, origin, nationality or race. Every member of society has equal opportunities for education and creative labour.

Relations of dependence and inequality between people in public affairs and in family life disappear. The personal dignity of each citizen is protected by society. Each is guaranteed an equal and free choice of occupation and profession with due regard to the interests of society.

As less and less time is spent on material production, the individual is afforded ever greater opportunities to develop his abilities, gifts and talents in the fields of production, science, engineering, literature and the arts. People will increasingly devote their leisure to public pursuits, cultural intercourse, intellectual and physical development and artistic endeavour. Physical training and sports will become part and parcel of the everyday life of people.

F. ELIMINATION OF THE SURVIVALS OF CAPITALISM IN THE MINDS AND BEHAVIOUR OF PEOPLE.

The party considers it an integral part of its Communist education work to combat manifestations of bourgeois ideology and morality, and the remnants of private-owner psychology, superstitions and prejudices.

The general public, public opinion, and extensive criticism and self-criticism must play a big role in combating survivals of the past and malifestations of individualism and selfishness.

Comradely Censure.

Comradely censure of antisocial behaviour will gradually become the principal means of doing away with manifestations of bourgeois views, customs and habits. The power of example in public affairs and in private life, in the performance of one's public duty, acquires tremendous educational significance.

The party uses ideological methods to educate people in the spirit of a scientific materialist world conception, to overcome religious prejudices without insulting the sentiments of believers. It is necessary to explain patiently the untenability of religious beliefs, which were engendered in the past when people were overawed by the elemental forces and social oppression and did not know the real causes of natural and social phenomena. This can be done by making use of the achievements of modern science, which steadily solves the mysteries of the universe and extends man's power over nature, leaving no room for religious inventions about supernatural forces.

G. THE EXPOSURE OF BOURGEOIS IDEOLOGY.

The peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems does not imply discontinuance of the ideological struggle. The Communist party will go on exposing the anti-popular, reactionary nature of capitalism and all attempts to draw pretty pictures of the capitalist system. The party will steadfastly propagate the great advantages of socialism and communism over the declining capitalist system.

The party advances the scientific ideology of communism in contrast to bourgeois ideology. Communist ideology, which expresses the fundamental interests of the working class and all working people, teaches them to struggle, to live and work, for the happiness of all. It is the most humane ideology. Its ideals are to establish truly human relations between individuals and peoples, to deliver mankind from the threat of extermination, and bring about universal peace and a free, happy life for all men on earth.

2. In the field of public education.

The transition to communism implies training that will make people Communist-minded, to struggle, to live and work, for the happiness of all. It is the most humane ideology. Its ideals are to establish truly human relations between individuals and peoples, to deliver mankind from the threat of extermination, and bring about universal peace and a free, happy life for all men on earth.

MACCABIA VILLAGE

Editor, The Jerusalem Post

Sir, — In today's issue of your paper, I read the report of the Maccabiah Village dedication. We read about the Maccabiah Initiative, about Krinitz's help, about Rasco's efforts to complete its erection in time for this year's Maccabiah, about all the very important guests who took part in the official opening of the interesting and so it seems — well-planned hotel that is called Maccabiah Village.

There was, however, no mention of the architects who designed the hotel.

While the founders and donors, the Ramat Gan authorities and Rasco deserve the public's thanks for their initiative, work and help, what of the architect, who gave his creative power his knowledge and skill, a year's work and had daily worries? Reporters should realize that an architect is an artist more or less the same as any other artist and needs some kind of "applause" or at least appreciation of his work.

The architects of the "Maccabiah Village" are Messrs. Shalit and Robinson, the interior decorating was done by Mr. F. Koenigsfeld.

HAIFA SKYLINE
Editor, The Jerusalem Post

Sir, — May I congratulate the Haifa citizens who have at last raised their voices against the ugliness of the Mount Carmel skyline and slopes.

Living in a house situated on the slope of Mt. Carmel, in one of Haifa's most beautiful spots, I am witness to the constant uprooting of trees without their ever being replaced. I refer to a section between Panorama Rd. and the Mount Carmel skyline and slopes.

The Town Planning Department issues building licences on condition that trees will be replanted but does not seem to care at all whether or not the building contractor fulfils this condition. An example is the Shikun Yefeh built by the Herta and Paul Amirani Foundation.

Yours, etc.

KEEPING POSTED
OUR fashion expert went to the Maccabiah too. He sat in the sun and got rather sleepy, he said, and he admits that some of his impressions may not be strictly accurate. First of all, he says, the Maccabiah is an excellent occasion, everybody knows that. The grown-ups must not mind that their thunder was stolen by the Maccabiah. Blue for boys and white for girls, that ran on for massed gymnastics at the end and drew all the oohs and ahs. Every boy knows that a child on the stage will steal any scene. What can you hope to do against 3,000 busy, graceful creatures running up and down happily without audible orders, as though the millennium had come?

The pigeons weren't such a success, especially the last two or three that got lost and flapped around screaming because they couldn't find their way out of the stadium. The blue-and-white clusters of balloons produced the millennial feeling again; it is pleasant to look into the sky for nothing worse than a balloon.

IT was lucky the children came on at the end, our man said. He came to the conclusion that adults dressed like in clothes that are yet not the uniform of any force, profession or trade, tend to look absurd. When a human loses the charm of youth he acquires instead a serving of individuality. Rob him of that by putting him in a line of stout gentlemen in baby blue shirts and white trousers and see what you get. Or better still, don't do it. He says he dined off for a minute at this point, and woke to see the blue and white delegation col comedy. After that all was clear. That lot looking well dressed in charcoal grey suits — a chorus of bank managers. The South Africans: a huge chorus of schoolboys and girls.

THE American delegation puzzled him for a moment. They were neatly graded by height, the first ones almost as tall as lanky Rafter Johnson. But with the row so long, the gang was short one at the end and looked as though they had been picked as pugilists. Another lot with hats on the side of their heads carrying a flag spread out flat draped up a memory of a gangster's funeral in a film. But despite their wide-open-spaces smiles, the Canadians looked too tough for musical comedy. We'll find them logs to roll if they care to stay. The Swiss were chorus again, in milky blue. Only the man from Katanga scored. Why? Because he was alone and therefore recognizably human. The fashion expert has no solution, unless they march on in sports clothes next time.

NOT that they did not look nice dressed up on the field, Irish emerald green and Mexican maroon and that elegant shade of blue the French Maccabiah has discovered. They did not understand the orders and soon disintegrated into informality. One man absent-mindedly wrapped himself in a flag as though it were a tall. Some photographed the stern army platoon whose discipline gave them the creeps; others posed in couples to be photographed themselves. They were not as graceful as the public when it was discovered that the precious torch had embarrassingly gone out on the way, and a soldier rushed up at the dramatic stage with a box of matches in his outstretched hand. In fact what Maccabiah needs is a little more training in dramatic sense. Their athletics are fine.

A WOMAN sitting waiting in a car near the Jewish Agency was accosted by an orthodox boy who wanted to know how much it would cost to go to Mess Shearim. He had apparently come away from the continuous protest-prayers over the children at Ramat Hadassah that are being held outside the Jewish Agency offices. She said the car was not a taxi and that anyway they were going to Rehavia, as an afterthought she asked the boy, who was only about seven, "Where is Yossele?" — He said "In London." — "And is that right?" — "Yes, of course. His mother is an Arab." — "And would it be right if someone were to take you away from your mother?" — "No, my mother is all right. Nobody can take ME away." By then they were quite good friends, and the boy asked if they would take him to Rehavia just for the ride. She said they hadn't the time, but he should go back and tell his father to send Yossele home. The boy simply roared with laughter at her funny idea.
